

CAMPUS COMEDY

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES® MAGAZINE'S AGENCY CHOICES FOR 2009

MARK EDDIE:
Talent Network (412) 264-4727

A twisted comedic version of Bruce Springsteen, Mark plays a mean guitar, plays his heart out and is incredibly funny. He has been referred to as "a new breed of musical stand-up comedian. He is the popular voice on "Nick at Night" jingles and TV and radio spots for Ford. He has been featured in Billboard Magazine, CMJ Magazine and Campus Activities® Magazine.

JEFF DYE:
Joey Edmonds Presents (818) 426-1279

Jeff is a rising star who has performed all over the country. He doesn't use profanity but is very edgy with creative humor. He's been described as a charmingly twisted experience. Jeff was the 2007 Giggles Comedy Club Laffoff Champion and can be seen on season six of Last Comic Standing. He is destined to become one of the major comedy performers on the college market.

LIAM SULLIVAN:
William Morris Agency (310) 859-4280

Liam Sullivan - aka "Kelly" is an internet sensation with smash hit YouTube videos including "Shoes" and "Text Message Break-up" winning the People's Choice Award in the User Generated Video Category. When not touring with Margaret Cho, Liam loves performing shows on college campuses, where he blends stand-up, sketch characters and videos seamlessly.

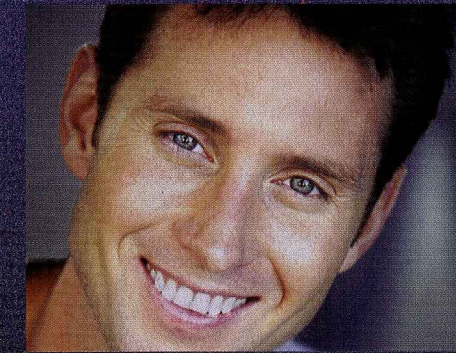

MICHAEL DEAN ESTER:
Neon Entertainment (716) 534-5998

Michael is a professional crowd-pleasing comedian who has catered to over 1,500 schools nationwide. His universal messages mixed with his comic attitude makes him the perfect candidate for campuses. His "The Reason You're Here" program demonstrates to students the reason for going to college is not to fulfill society's expectations but to achieve their goals.

LONI LOVE:
Sophie K Entertainment (212) 268-9583

Loni was awarded the Jury Prize for best stand-up from the 2003 US Comedy Arts Festival in Aspen and voted one of Variety's 2003 10 Comics to Watch.
